

A close-up photograph of a vibrant red poppy flower in full bloom, viewed through a stained glass window. The flower's petals are bright red and slightly ruffled, with a dark, textured center. The window's leaded glass panes create a grid-like pattern over the flower. The background is a soft-focus green, suggesting foliage.

*Lest
we forget*